Description of Physical and Landscape Features:
This corner house has entrances on both 8th and Van Buren Streets. The Van Buren entrance, as the primary address, is also architecturally the dominant entrance with a brick veneer entrance that corbels out into a gable to top it off. A large picture bay window also faces Van Buren, while the rest of the windows are 6/1 double-hung wood. The yard sits up above the street held in place by a board formed concrete retaining wall. An associated garage sits in back and actually faces onto 8th street. The only significant alterations are a back porch and trellis that appear to be within the last 10 years. An external chimney protrudes from the south wall.
