Description of Physical and Landscape Features:
This one story bungalow sits under a side gable roof with a large gable projecting out from the north side of the house to cover the front porch. The gables feature open eaves, wide barge boards, and decorative knee brackets. The porch gable is supported by tapered square columns set on a solid balustrade, clad with the same lap siding as the rest of the house. The windows are primarily 1/1 double-hung wood sash with plain board trim, but fixed sashes also exist on the north and west sides of the house. A small rectangular bay projects out to the west from the southwest corner of the house, covered by a small gable roof with the same features as the other gables. The house also features a large brick chimney on the west wall and an attached garage at the southwest corner. The garage is made of board-formed concrete with a shallow arched roof. A dry laid basalt retaining wall runs along the north and west sides of the property.
