Description of Physical and Landscape Features:
This modest house sits under a side gable roof, with a large shed dormer on the south side. The main gable and dormer feature shallow enclosed eaves. A shed roof, probably added to the house, extends out from the south eave edge to cover the main entry to the house. This roof runs nearly the entire length of the façade, and is supported by decorative steel columns. The house is clad with horizontal lap siding at the first floor level and with board and batten siding in the gable ends and on the dormer. The windows are all sliding vinyl sashes with wide board trim, and a set of French doors has been added to the center of the south façade. A small brick chimney is located near the center of the house.
