Description of Physical and Landscape Features:
This 1-1/2 story vernacular style house has a gable roof covered in composition shingles. It has a square plan and sits on a concrete foundation. The house is clad in large wood shingles and has narrow bargeboards. Many of the windows have been placed with aluminum sliders. There is one large aluminum picture window on the front elevation. A few of the original 1/1 wood windows remain. A hip roof extension has been added to the front of the house and the porch has been remade with concrete blocks. The front yard is enclosed by a picket fence. There is also an attached carport to the south. At the rear is a small mother-in-law unit that has matching materials.
