This side gabled house sits on a concrete block foundation. Most windows have been replaced with aluminum sliders and siding has been covered with asbestos ceramic. The front elevation has a large new fixed window. There is one 1/1 double-hung wood window on the front elevation. The recessed porch has a shed roof on the south side that is a possible add-on. Four large cedars grow on the west side. The east elevation is not visible. Retaining walls hold in the front yard.
